

In 2011, the Financial Literacy and Education Commission (FLEC) developed a strategy to promote financial literacy and education. As a part of that strategy, they created the MyMoney.gov website.

This website provides financial education on five building blocks of financial success:

- EARN – Make the most of what you earn by understanding your pay and benefits. Read more...
- SAVE & INVEST - It's never too early to start saving for future goals such as a house or retirement, even by saving small amounts. Read more...
- PROTECT – Taking precautions about your financial situation, accumulate emergency savings, and have the right insurance. Read more...
- SPEND – Be sure you are getting a good value, especially with big purchases, by shopping around and comparing prices and products. Read more...
- BORROW – Borrowing money can enable some essential purchases and builds credit, but interest costs can be expenses. And, if you borrow too much, you will have a large debt to be repaid. Read more...

There is also information on specific topics, such as:

- National Disasters. Preparation is the key to any type of financial recovery. MyMoney.gov has some really good financial recovery resources for before, or after, a disaster.
- Educational resources. For Youth, Teachers & Educators, and Researchers.
- Life Cycle. The Life Event covers topics such as new child; marriage/divorce; or death of a family member.
- Useful tools. The Tools page helps you locate on-line calculators, budget worksheets and planning checklists.

If you are having issues with a federal agency, please feel free to call our office at 770-429-1776 or email us at caseworkga11@mail.house.gov. We look forward to serving you, should you need our assistance.