In 1980, the National Family Partnership (NFP), formerly the National Federation of Parents for Drug Free Youth, was established. Starting as a grassroots, non-profit dedicated to drug prevention among our youth, they have become a leader in drug prevention education & advocacy.

In 1985, the Red Ribbon Campaign® was started after drug traffickers in Mexico City murdered DEA agent Kiki Camarena. This began the continuing tradition of displaying Red Ribbons as a symbol of intolerance towards the use of drugs. The mission is to present a unified and visible commitment towards the creation of a DRUG-FREE AMERICA.<sup>1</sup>

How can you get involved? You may already know, schools across America participate by hosting activities during school hours during the week; however, parents can also be involved by talking with their children; no matter their age. According to NFP, “Children of parents who talk to their teens regularly about drugs are 42% less likely to use drugs than those who don’t, yet only a quarter of teens report having these conversations.” Prevention starts at home; talk to your children, especially your teens.

If you suspect your child has already tried or is using drugs, there are resources to seek help.
