

BIO: Congressman Barry Loudermilk, 118th Congress

Congressman Barry Loudermilk, a Constitutional Conservative, represents northwest Georgia's 11th Congressional District.

In the 118th Congress, Congressman Loudermilk serves as a member of the U.S. House Financial Services Committee and is the Vice Chairman of the Subcommittee on Financial Institutions and Monetary Policy. Congressman Loudermilk also serves on the Committee on House Administration and is the Chairman on the Subcommittee on Oversight and serves as a member of the Republican Study Committee (RSC), a conservative caucus of House Republicans.

Before being elected to Congress in 2014, he was a small business owner for over 20 years. He also served in the Georgia State legislature for nine years.

A Georgia native, Congressman Loudermilk holds an Associate Degree in Telecommunications Technology, and a Bachelor of Science in Occupational Education and Information Systems Technology. And he proudly served in the U.S. Air Force for eight years in the intelligence and technology fields.

He is the former owner of an information technology services business, and is an author, historian, and motivational speaker.

He and his wife Desiree have been married since 1983. They reside in northwest Georgia and have three grown children and five grandchildren.